Description
Cellint Traffic Solutions is a global provider of real time traffic and location information of the entire population based on billions of data points on the cellular network. TrafficSense tracks all active mobile phones, anonymously, to the exact street/rail they are traveling on, pinpointing their exact location on that route every 30 seconds on average. Big data analytics is then used to generate a comprehensive mobility solution for smart cities. TrafficSense was validated by transportation agencies and municipalities to match sensors data quality. It is the most cost-effective solution for traffic management, signal tuning, origin destination analysis, impact studies and home travel surveys
