Description

eluminocity developed a street light concept in cooperation with automotive industry and market leaders to implement state-of-art urban electric vehicle (EV) infrastructure and sensor technology for eMobility. Our product offers LED based light fixtures with embedded multi-use sensors and integrated EV charging stations for eMobility solutions to be deployed street-wide in neighborhoods and cities of all sizes. Using integrated sensors for presence detection, the smart streetlight system not only can provide parking space information, but also reduce energy consumption when the space is unoccupied. This smart logic is working in the background, while drivers are at work - or at play - and the car is charging throughout their entire stay. This innovation makes the eluminocity platform a vital component of the Smart City of today and tomorrow.
