Description

Founded in 1954, its origins come from the aggregate production and asphalt development. Through this decades, Sorigué has experimented a constant expansion which besides the increase of the business volume, human resources and its own means, it has resulted in a diversification of its working fields. During this 60 years, the company has developed itself by responding the market needs, maintaining solvent customer and suppliers relationships. This fact has allowed a continuous reinvestment on its technical and human resources. The company has a leading position on both, new product development and production methods: a constant development with the aim of creating new values in each process and innovating through the excellence.
