Description

greenApes is the sustainability social network, rewarding eco-citizens for their environmentally friendly behaviours. It is an international project with dedicated local focus: first pilot cities are Florence (Italy) and Essen (Germany), European Green Capital 2017. We are looking for the next cities to launch in, so reach out if you'd like to engage citizens in sustainable lifestyles.

You can join the greenApes jungle via the iOS, Android or web apps.

Request

Cities interested in engaging citizens in sustainable lifestyles greenApes is an award winning gamified social network, which rewards sustainable behaviours of citizens (with real prizes offered by local partners). Our goal is to expand the segments of population engaged in sustainable lifestyles.

First pilot cities are Florence (Italy) and Essen (Germany, European Green Capital 2017). We're selecting the next cities to launch in.

Looking forward to talking to cities administrations, local partners for project implementation (NGOs and other organisations) as well as other apps for integration
